JPA Guide for Authors—Article Type

Article Description	Abstract	Word Limit	Figures/Tables	References
Original Research Article Original research articles should describe in detail original and important pieces of work in the fields covered by the Journal. Note: A clear structure is required, which should contain but not confined to the following sections: Abstract, Introduction, Materials and methods/Experimental, Results, Discussion, and Conclusion.	Unstructured abstract; max word limit: 300	No requirement	Max of 10	Max 50
Review Paper Review papers should cover topics that have seen significant development or progress in recent years, with comprehensive depth and a balanced perspective, rather than providing a comprehensive literature survey.	Unstructured abstract; max word limit: 300	No requirement	Max of 10	Max of 150
Perspective Perspective may focus on current advances and future directions on a topic of Analysis of Pharmacy. They are more forward looking and/or speculative than Review papers and may take a narrower field of view. Most Perspectives are commissioned, but authors wishing to submit an unsolicited Perspective must submit it through the online submission system.	None	Max of 2000 words, excluding Abstract, References, Figures, and Tables	Max of 1	Max of 5
Short Communication Short communication is a report or announcement of research, usually claiming certain results, which preset original and significant material for rapid dissemination. Note: ● In the first paragraph, please provide a brief background and summary (<200 words). ● DO NOT add any other section titles, e.g., Background, Methods,	None	Max of 1000 words, excluding References, Figures, and Tables	Max of 1	Max of 5

Results, or Discussion. • The additional findings and detailed materials and methods can be presented in the Supplementary data (no space limit). • If the article type is changed from Original research article to Short communication after author's revision, please DO NOT delete any data or findings in previous submissions. • Short communication should include a clear conclusion part to highlight the main findings and importance of the study in the last paragraph.
Editorial The editors invite Editorials to discuss a topical issue or a paper published in the Journal and set the problems addressed by the paper in the wider context of the field. These are usually commissioned, but unsolicited Editorial submissions are considered for publication.	None	Max of 1000 words, excluding References, Figures, and Tables	Max of 1	Max of 5
Comment Comments are analysis of recently published articles of particular interest. Most Comments are commissioned, but authors wishing to submit an unsolicited Comment must submit it through the online submission system.	None	Max of 1000 words, excluding References, Figures, and Tables	Max of 1	Max of 5
News News are brief inform about the scientific advances reported in an article recently published in Journal of Pharmaceutical Analysis or elsewhere. Most News are commissioned, but authors wishing to submit an unsolicited News must submit it through the online submission system.	None	Max of 1000 words, excluding References, Figures, and Tables	Max of 1	Max of 5
Research Highlight Research highlights discuss the main advances of the selected research papers, and explain a complex, important piece of research in a way that makes it enticingly comprehensible to all readers.	None	Max of 1000 words, excluding References, Figures, and Tables	Max of 1	Max of 5

Note: Word, Figure, Table, and Reference limits are provided for guidance only. The Editors will consider submissions that exceed the recommended limit, subject to feedback received during peer review. The detailed requirement of articles is available at the "Preparation" section of Guide for Author.